‘Screen Scenes’ from Kristen Taylor (Drama Teacher and Playwright)

“I put together Screen Scenes. It is designed to be used by actors in isolation. It consists of monologues and duologues which can be recorded by individually, straight to a camera/phone/computer. There are also some larger cast scenes that actors can collaborate on and still record individually with a simple Facetime or Zoom (or the like) app. Screen Screens are taken from my Epic Theatre pieces Teen and Bully! which consist of scenes inspired by real life stories told to me by my students, like the teenagers that inspired them, some are angsty, sad, some are funny, but they are all real. I hope that it is of use to some of you”

Professional Learning related to on-line learning

A teacher from Open Access College recorded a webinar PL on on-line learning.

Hi all, I am a teacher at a DfE school called Open Access College. We are a distant education school located next to Marden Senior College. A fellow colleague and myself are going to host an online session to give teachers ideas on how to support our students in these uncertain times. I will post an invitation link to this page at 3:15pm for a 3:30pm start. I ask you to share this with as many teachers, IT staff, and leadership members as possible. This is an open invite. We may do another session at 7:00pm for those who are unable to attend the afternoon session. Cheers and we look forward to seeing you then.
